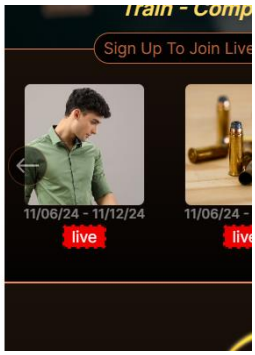
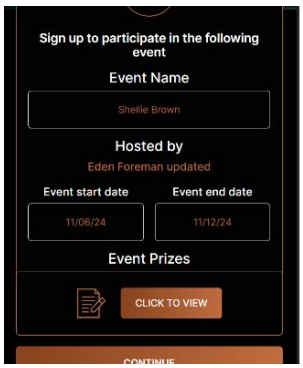
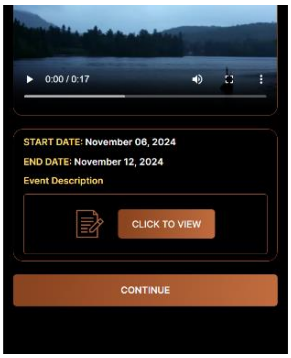
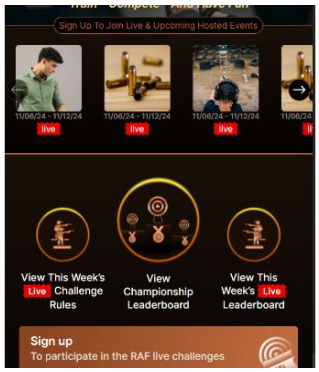
Status update / Bug list as of 11 / 12 / 24

If someone is signed in as a HOST (and is not a RAF Member), the flow for clicking on a promoted event is not correct.
This is the flow that they get and it never allows them to sign up for a membership or get the host code









This is what is the correct flow that it should follow and the rest of this flow for signing up and paying

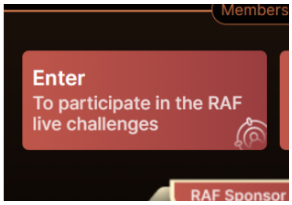
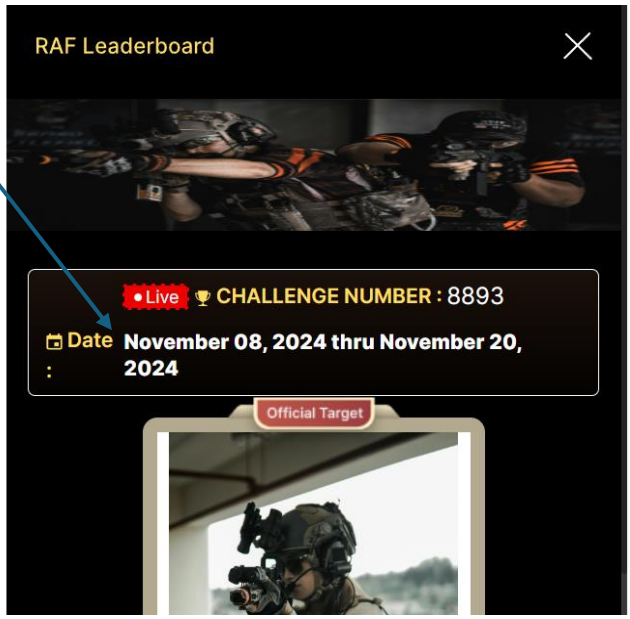
This process works fine for a Member clicking on a sponsor event to sign up.

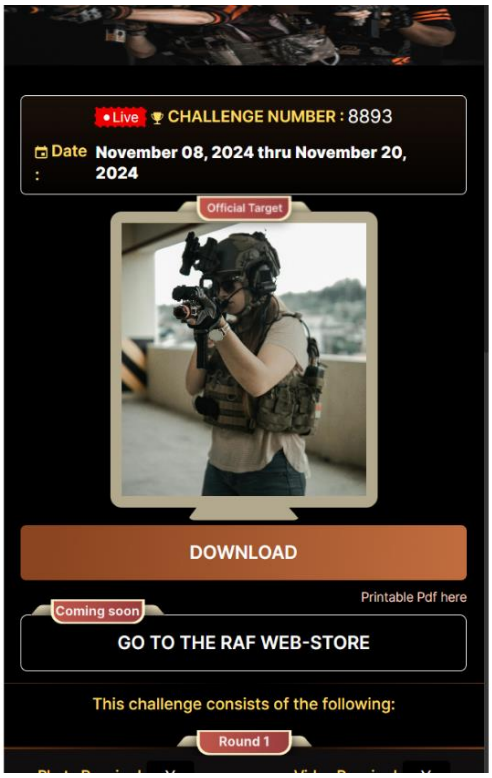
To keep the date all on one line, we may need to reduce the font slightly

From this flow





The target box changed proportions and needs to be as prior as 2 x 3



this is showing the correct proportions

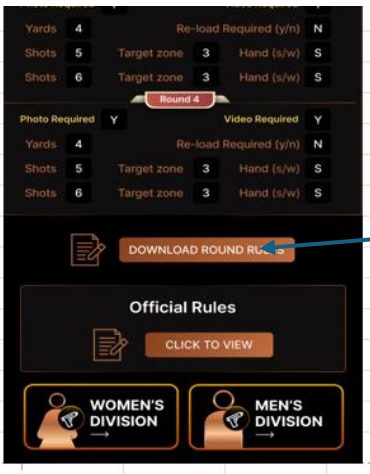
Just asking: What is involved to add a box belwo the round details to allow the user to print out the round details. This can be in a simple PDF format and does not need to look any particular way so long as it is separated by round and in the line format as we currently have???
This would allow the member to print out the round rules to have in front of them as they participate and not require them to constantly refer back to their moble device.



This is in the participate in the live challenges, the user needs the ability to crop their uploaded photo and have it fit within a 2 x 3 target box format

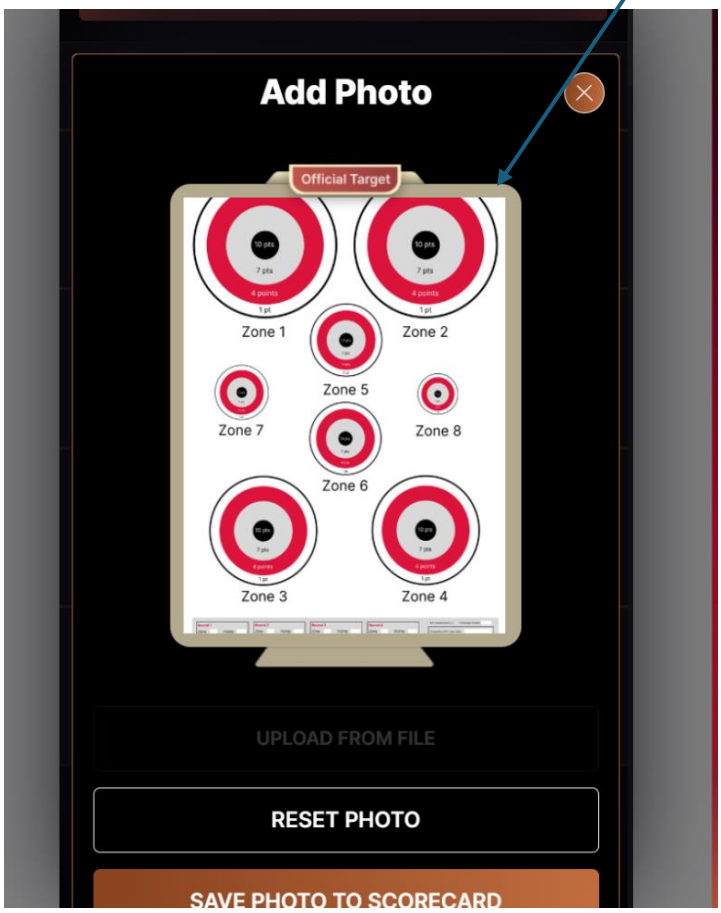
See how the outside border of the design is cropping off the imported design. The picute imported wa as 2 x 3 image.

If the boarder was outside the picture box then it would be perfect.
See how the top and bottom of the target is cut off by the border?



See how it fits in the upload page, but it doesn't in the frame because the frame is inside the image box vs. outside the image box.

Does not fit inside frame

Fits in crop box

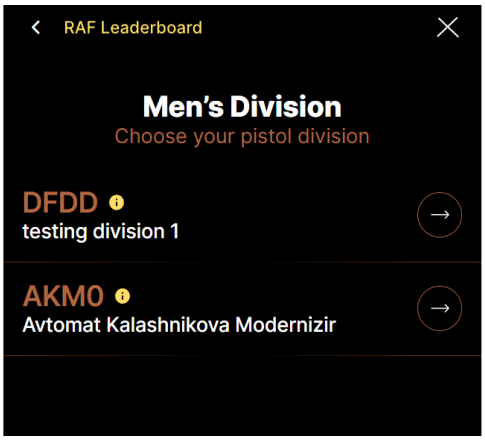
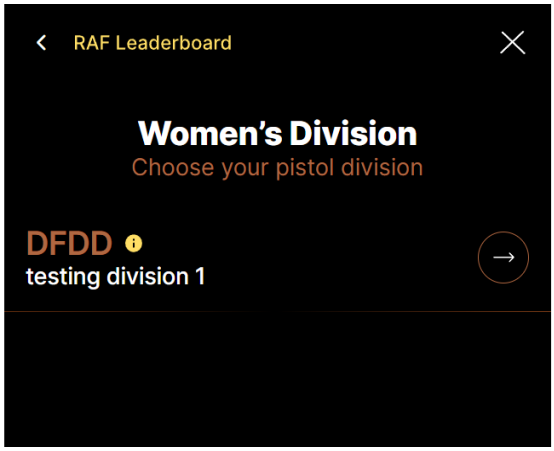
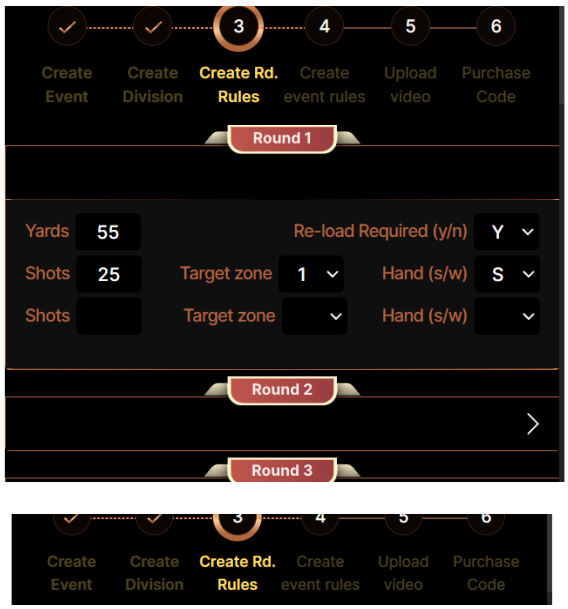
In the same live weekly challenge flow, the pistol divisions available should be the same for both the mens and womens but for some reason, when selecting the womens, the second division is not showing up. These two screen shots are from the same challenge

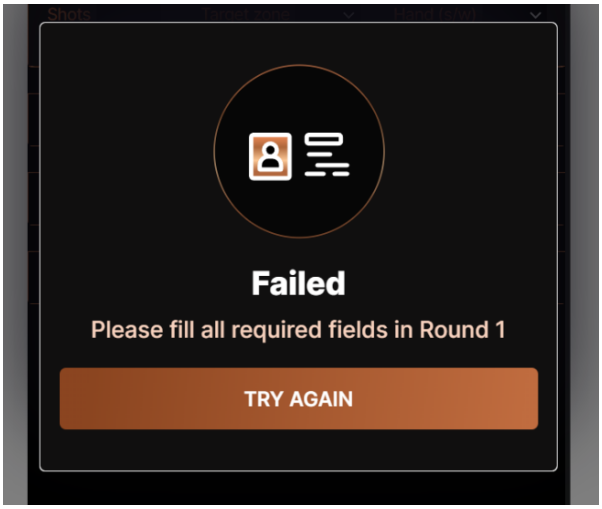




On any of the leaderboards showing a podium, center the flags vertically below each podium position.
Do the same on the indivisual leaderboard CENTER FLAGS BELOW MEDALS

For round 1, so long as yards, reload required, and shots, target zone and hand are all filled in , the second shots line either needs to be all filled in (if not the error is appropriate) or none of the three boxes can be filled in which is fine.
This is the error I received from what was entered - which should be accepted.



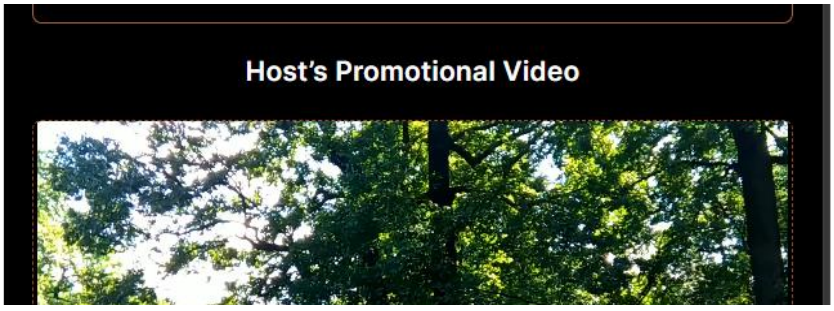


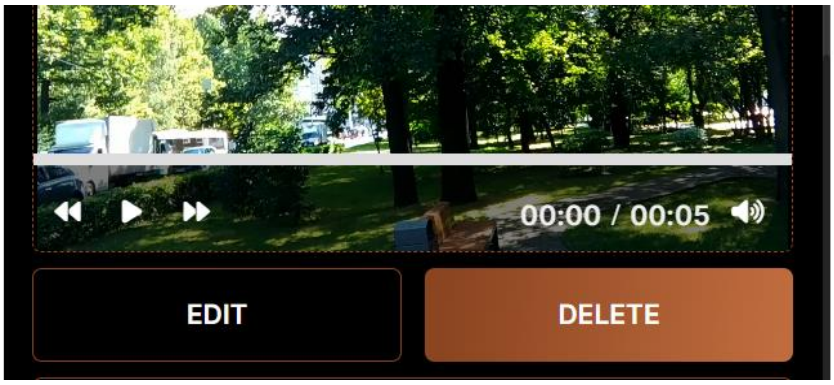
the upper left example where shots 25 target zone 1 and hand S are all filled in across that line as well as Yard and Re-load required, this is an acceptable entry, The example to the left where on the second shots line, the target zone is missing, this SHOULD throw off the errow shown above.

In the host - create an event flow, this cropping update is not included for the 2 x 3 format

In the host admin / event library / View Full Detail

The video command buttons are over the video and not below as normal





Currently, a host - clicking on Sign up to participate in RAF live challenges does not go to a next page at all this is what I was getting when a current member went to sign up to host their own private event. There are many issues noted below.

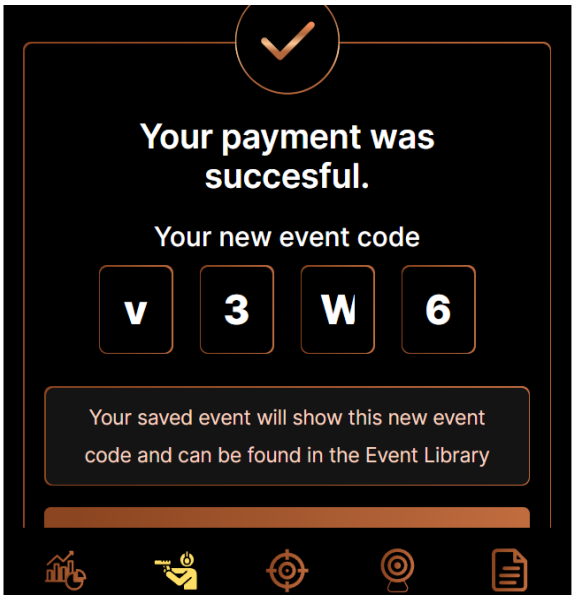
This is the last page in a current host purchasing a new event code through the Host admin / Create Event



note that the W does not fit in the box and how the action button is hidden - move all of the elements on the page up to avoid scrolling

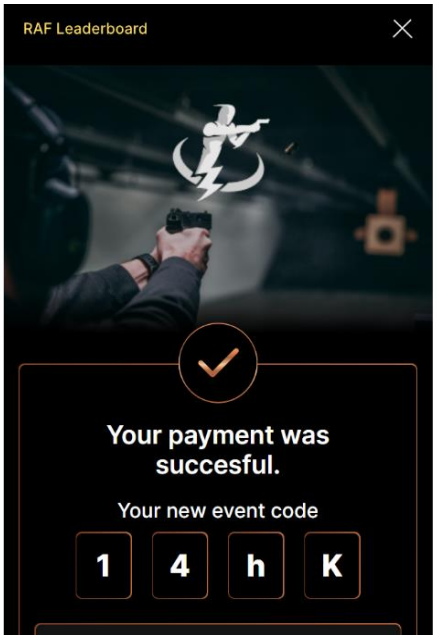
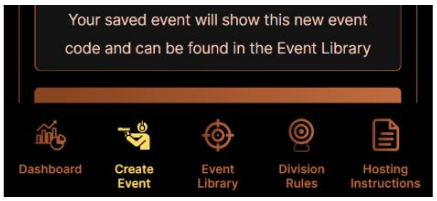
After they sign make the purchase, their code page needs to have all the copy within the box moved up to allow space for the action button etc. This is the same as the image above



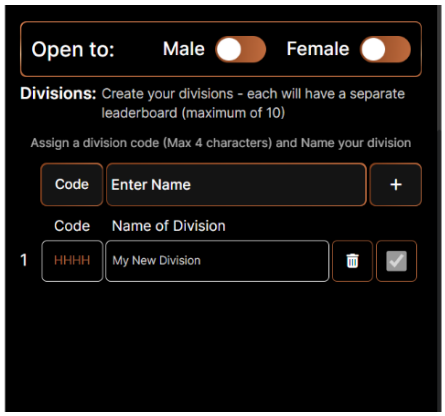


In the host admin / event library / view full detail / edit / pistol division

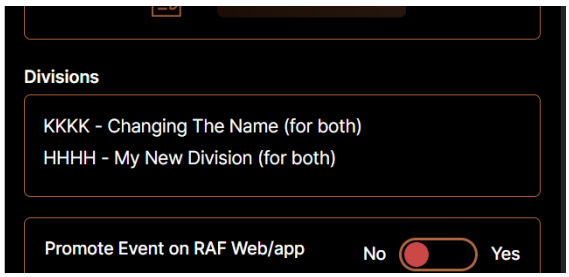
It is not carrying over the Male / Female selections. It has them both turned "Off" which can't be correct as this would have thrown off an error message during event creation

And it does not allow for the Open to: to be edited. Unless you first do something in the division fields and get an error message - odd.

Then it does not save the open to changes made after pressing save changes.



In the host admin / event library / details / the divisions box is showing (for both) even though only one was selected. It would be better to put (Men's), (Women's) or (Men's / Women's) instead of (for both)



In the host admin / create Event / the hot logo and the Hosted by Name should pre-populate from the host sign up profile after becoming a host, and going into the Menu / Profile / Host, the host logo shoud come across as they entered during creating their first event sign up, as well as the Hosted By Name should be populated from the sign up process.

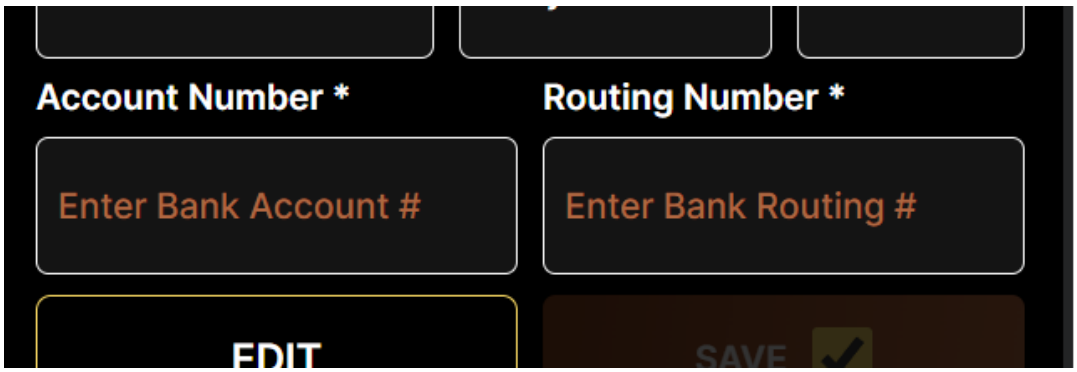
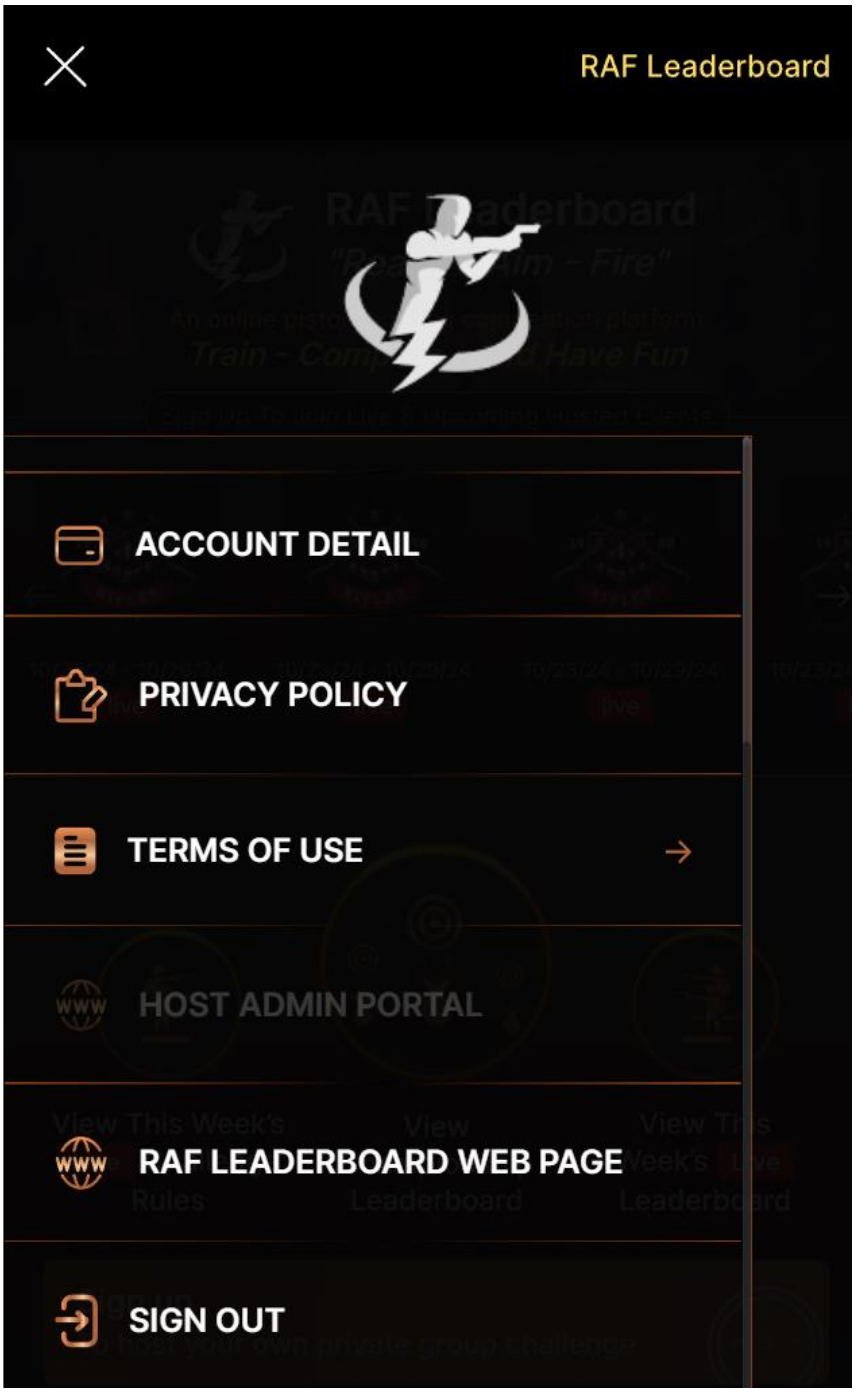
Keep the rounting number requirement at 9 digits but do not put a requirment on the account number as these can vary from 8-17 digits

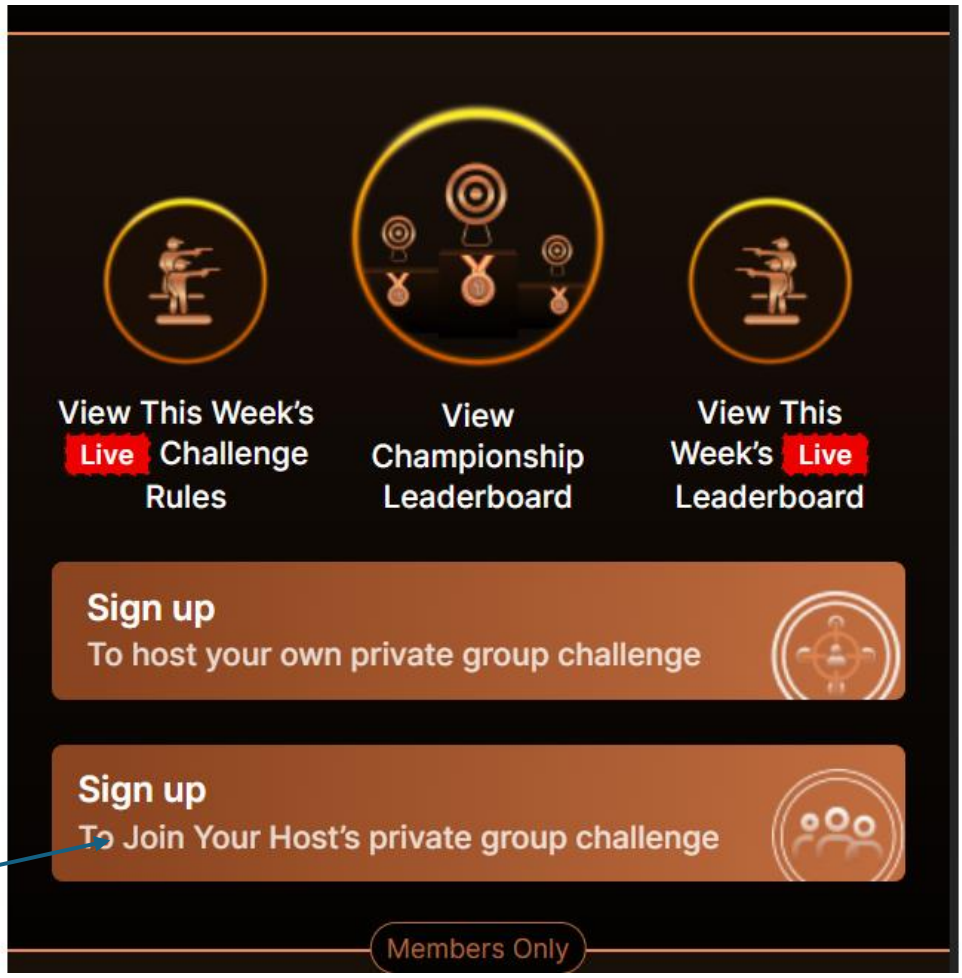
Please put the Routing box on the left and the account number box on the right



I created a member account and then created a host account and received a host code. When logged in using the persons email and password (which are the same for both) only the member profile was showing

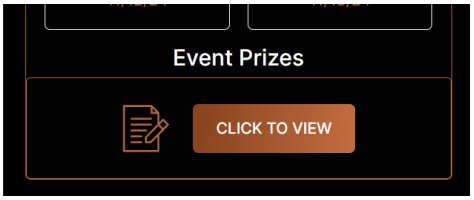


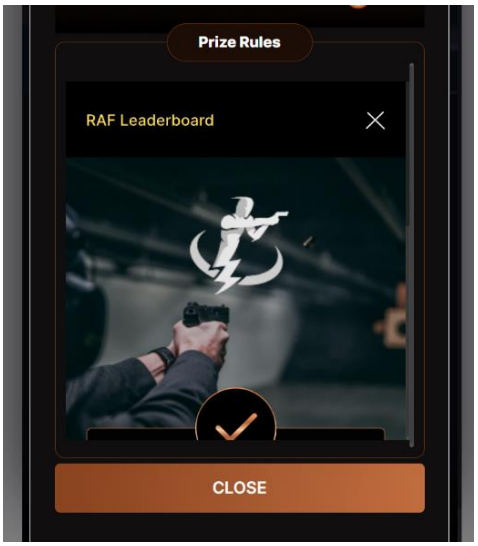
If a person is a member and also a host, their landing page should only have one box option and that is to sign up to join your hosts private group challenge

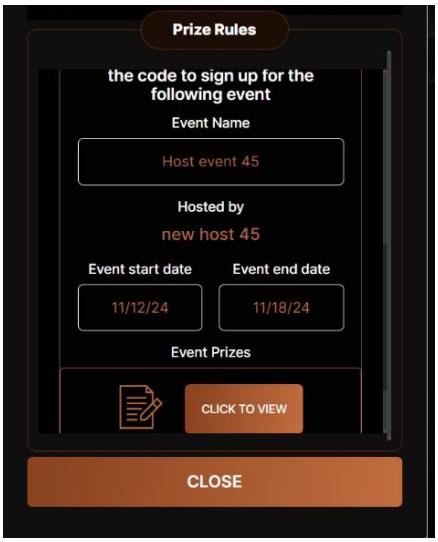


a person who is both a member and host should only see this box

When someone signing into a hosted event clicks on event prizes and the host has not entered any uploaded Pdf. There should be something like, "This is a participation event only - No prizes have been estabilished for this event." What we currently have is what is shown below.

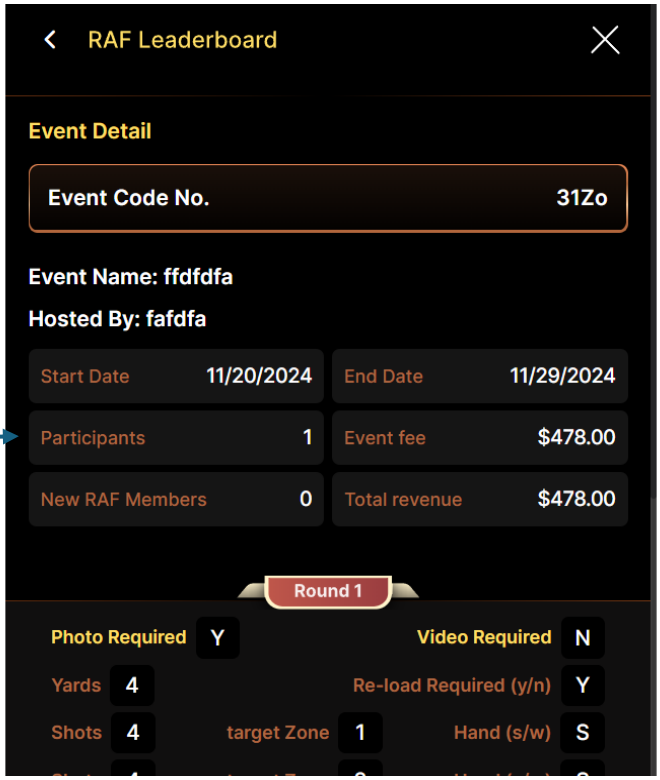


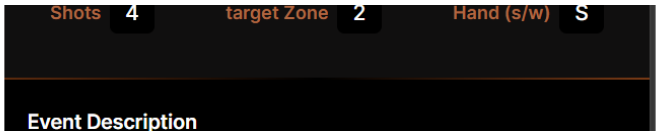




The problem is that it is not recognizing that they are a member and when they select to become a host. This is odd as it did allow me to sign up AGAIN to become a host from the landing page even though I had alread used this email to sign in as a host before.

Note how it added the host to the participants list.

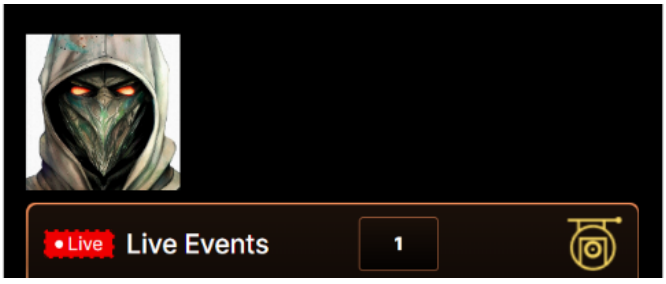


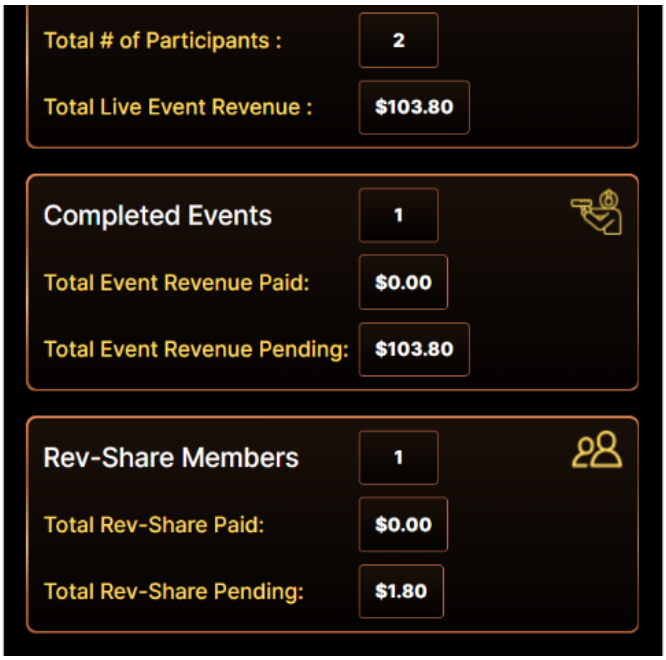


Hosts admin completed events

The P/R (Payment Record) will come from the Super admin functionality along with the date paid

I went in and changed the end date to a date past and the data did move to the completed events section, but the main dashboard did not update correctly in the Live events section

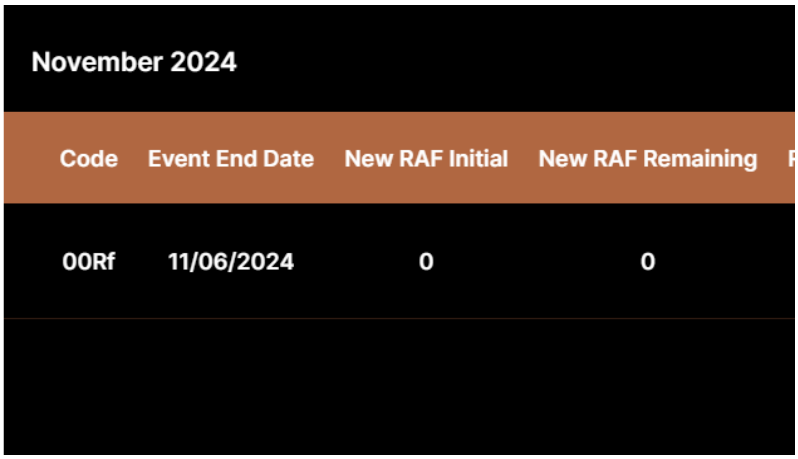




On the above image, Rev-Share Members, This is a bit confusing to explain but let me attempt:

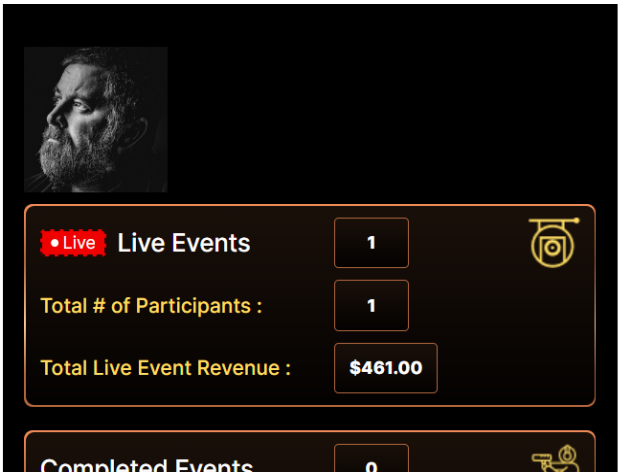
When a host creats an event and lets say tha there are 100 new RAF members, This is currently being shown correctly in the live events section, and in the completed events section. Once an event completes, RAF will be paying the host for all the event fee's collected AND the initial new RAF membership (the first month of the members subscription) from the event sign up. When a new member pays the 2nd, 3rd. Etc month consectively, the programming logic will be. 1), Member email, check to see if that email is attached to a host code - if Yes then add 1 to the Rev-Share Member total in that month and add the revenue at (sub cost x .20). So depending on the event end date, this number will grow over the first month to a max of the amount of new sub. members that attended the event.
So for this example, the number should be 0.

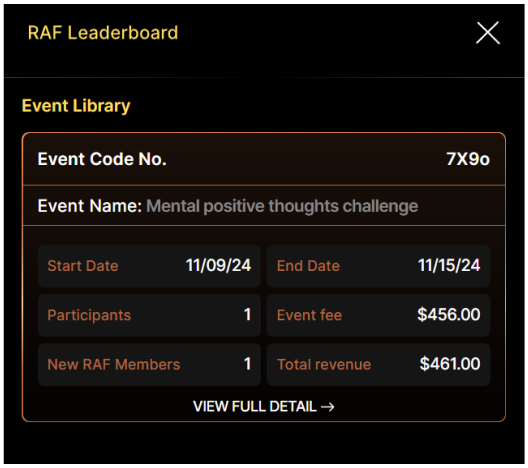
In the Rev-Share Members section under a months detail, the New RAF Initial should be 1 in this example. The remaining will follow the rules listed above.

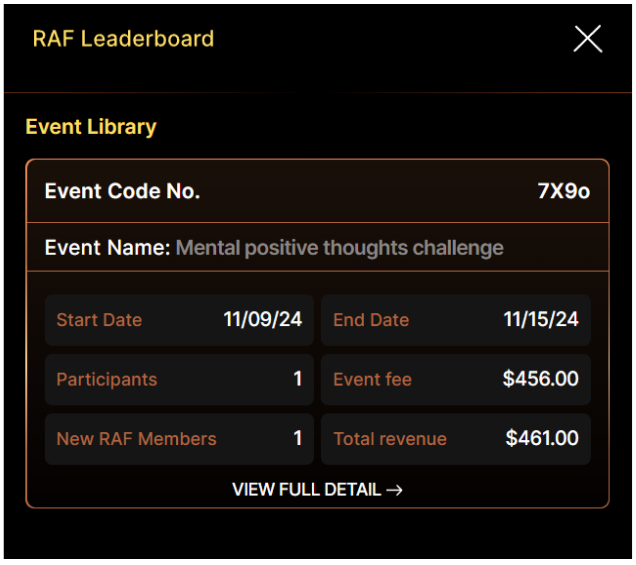


There is a small issue with the live Events section. Again, any event that has a start date and an end date that is not passed (completed) is to be included and shown in the detail of the Live Events Section. I created an event with a start date of 11/09 (future) and it is showing on the dashboard, but not in the detail as it should. See below.

Also, I can tell that the rev-share calculation is wrong. As stated multiple times, the rev-share is ONLY calculated using the BASE subscription amount ($9.00) and NEVER the subscription + targets. It is pulling over $5.00 which is the 20% of $25 which is wrong!





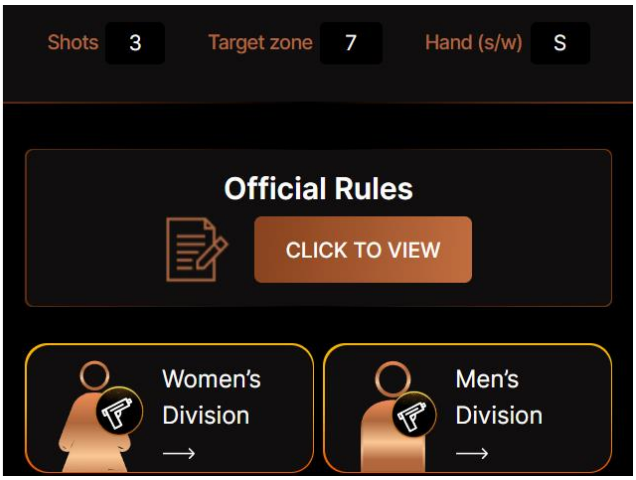


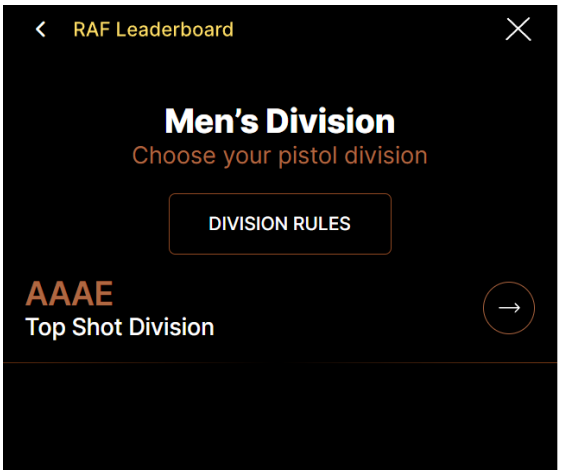
All leaderboards

The leaderboard that a member is to be displayed on is first determined by if they enter in the Women's or Men's division as the first sort and then by the the pistol division choosen.

The toggle(s) in the RAF or Host event creation for Mens or womens divisions are only to limit if that division is available.

Currently each member is showing on both the Mens and womens which is incorrect

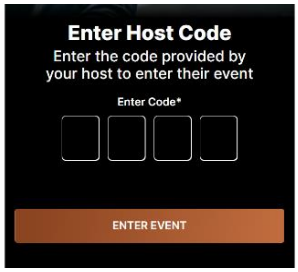


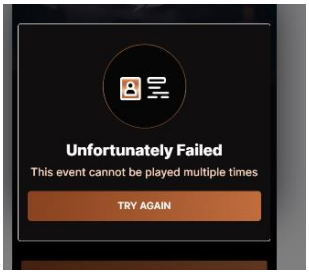


A member can have multipe leaderboard posts if they enter multiple divisions (not mens and womens - but different pistol divisions)

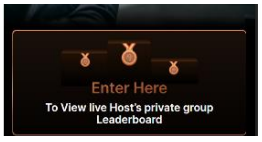
If someone signs into a hosted event and completes the event and the host has not selected the toggle to allow multiple attempts, the error message preventing this should be from the page where they select to enter the event or view the leaderboard and not from the initial signing in. They do need access to the event details and leaderboard, just not to do the event a second time.

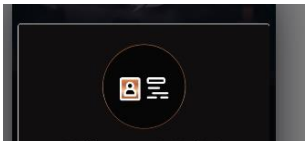
This is the current flow which is wrong





This is where the error message should





The guest always needs access to the flow up to here should origionate from if Multiple attempts is No

and including the leaderboard

under the User Profile, a person can have it show: 1) Member only, 2) Host only, 3) member and host. Remember that the member database and host database are unique and can contain the same email address.

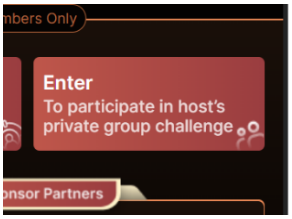
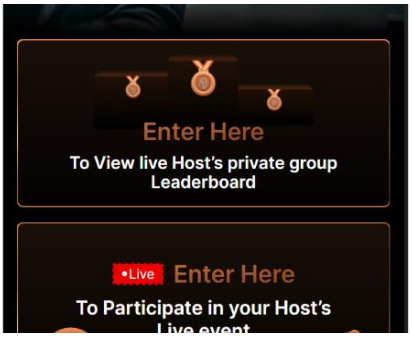
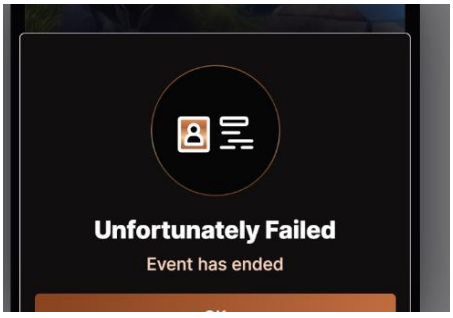
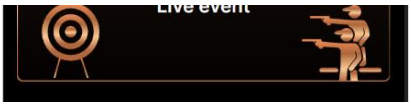
any time someone selects

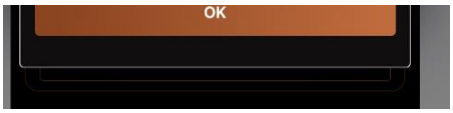


And has the appropriate event code, it should allow them to go to the event leaderboad opton page and look at the leaderboard at any time regardless if the event has started or ended.
Only if the event has ended and they select Enter Here to Participate in Hosts live event should they get the error message.









We want anyone with the code to be able to review the results indefinately.

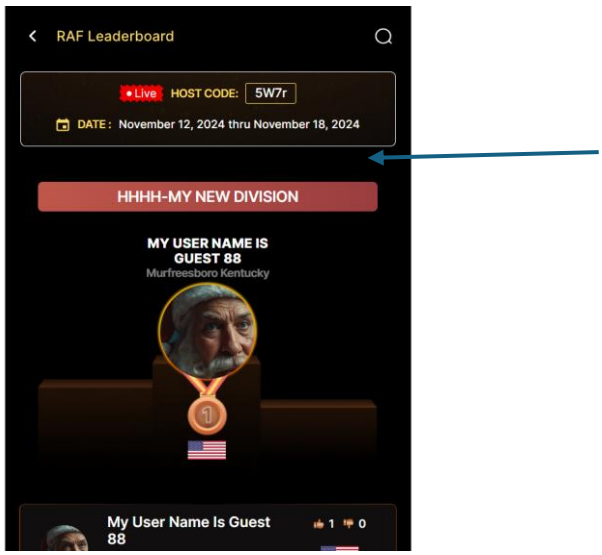
On the host leaderboard, divisional page - remove the space between the date box and division

Name



This is from the championship leaderboard

The championship leaderboard(s) have issues with the dates. This is how they are designed to work.

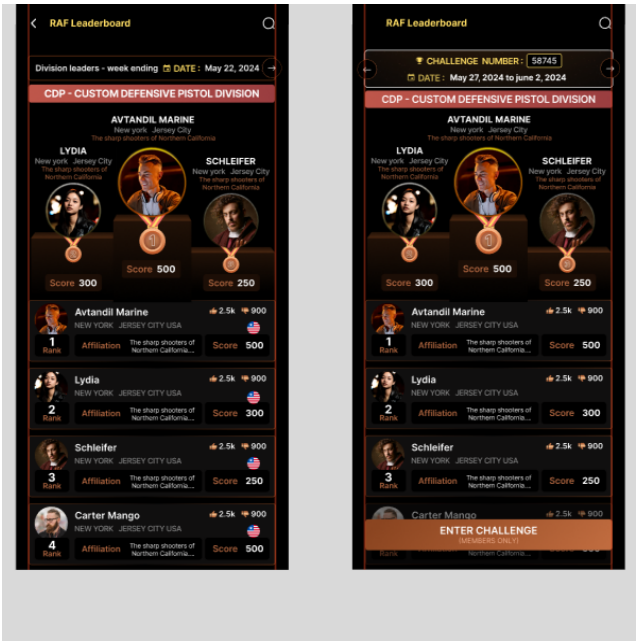
The summary (podium only by division) show at the top for Week ending Date of the Sunday of each progressive week. For example for the challenges starting last week of November 04 (each weeks challenges start on a Monday - not Sunday) thru Nov 10th (Sunday is the end date of each weeks challenges). So the end date for Week Ending Date is November 10th (Sunday).

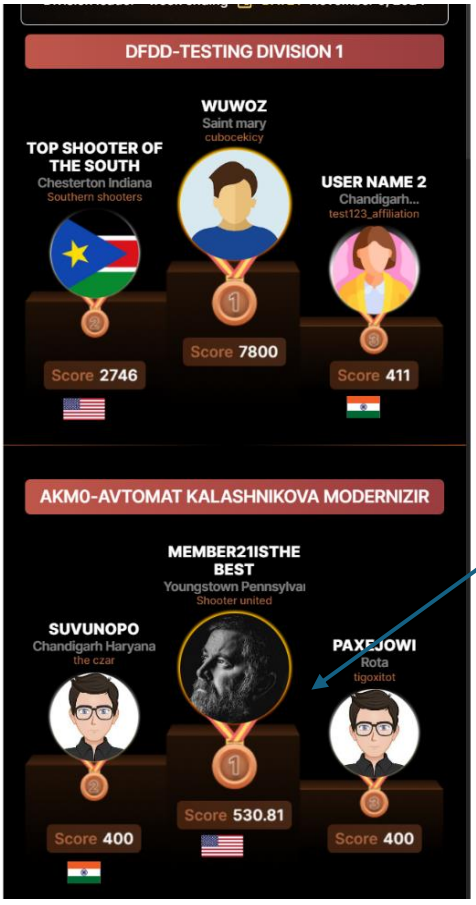
So at the stroke of midnight on each Sunday, the system is to close that weeks challenge ranking. That challenge is done and results are sealed.

Note that the challenge leaderboard does not contain or show the current live leaderboard as it is a trailing leaderboard. This is why there is a live and a championship

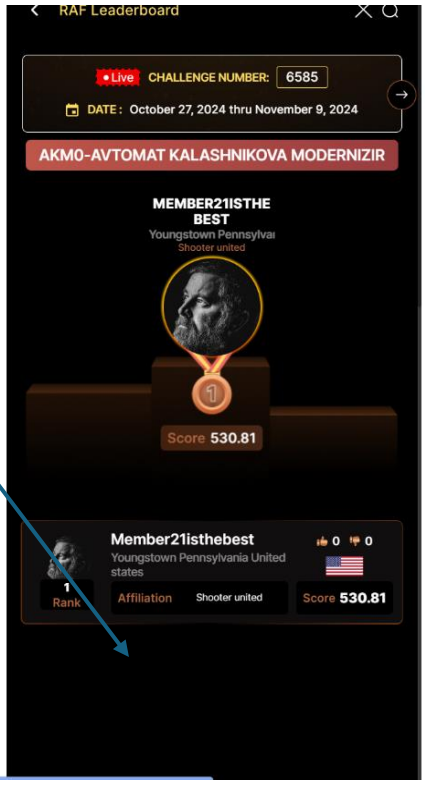
To determine the rankings for the championship leaderboard as the stroke of midnight each week, we are to take the scores across the prior 8 weeks and total each members scores for each challenge that they provided a score (by pistol division and by mens / womens division) and this will be their championship leaderboard ranking.

These will be shown on the summary as well as by division.

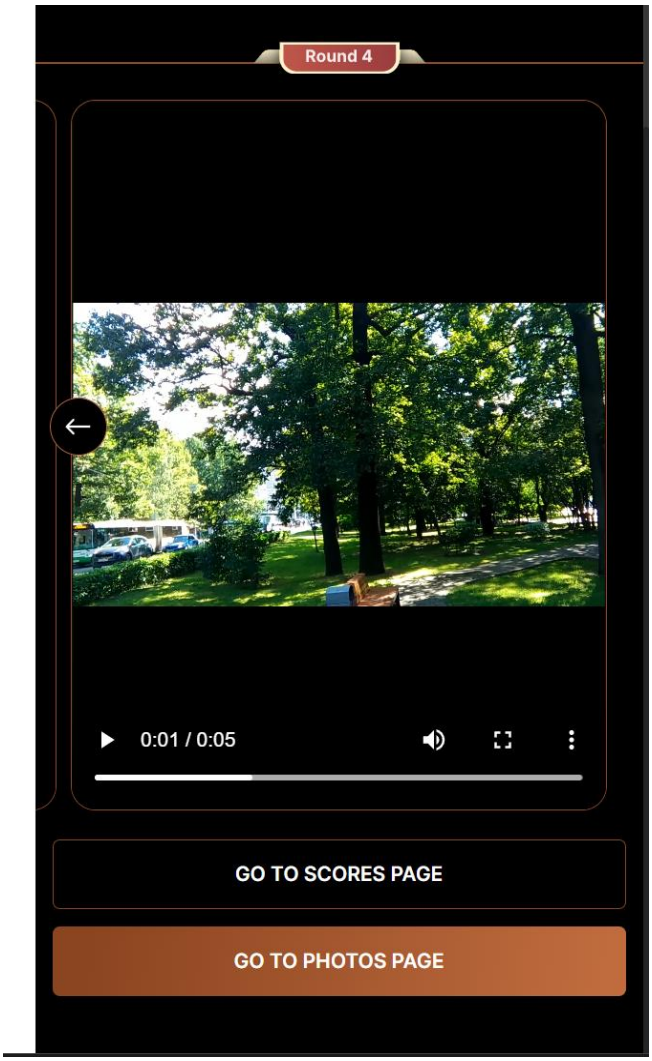




Note on the second division that there are 3 podium positions but only one showing



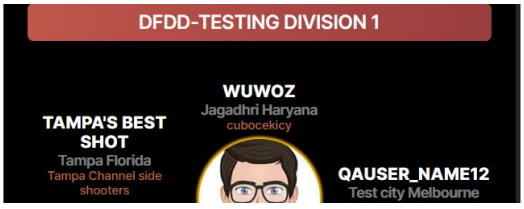
Make this fit without the need for vertical scrolling.

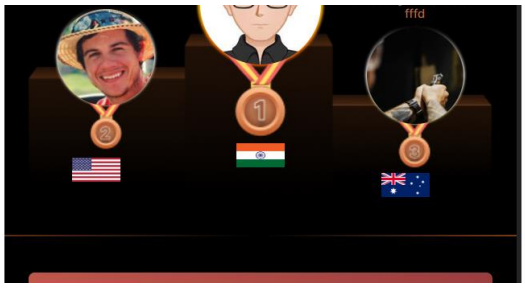


Championship leaderboard

The order shown on the summary (first page) podium division page is not the same order as in that division

This is the same division from the championship leaderboard.





I phone layout issues

I will provide screen shots from my iphone 13 pro max on how the screens are displaying
In general, the bottom action button is consistently being covered up by the raf.shiedezign.com url at the bottom, It would be better if the copy on the pages did not go below this part of the screen when possible by moving everything up.

also, several of the pages action buttons do not activate until the page is adjusted .

The credit card page is weird in that it jumps the screen around from area to area instead of just moving between fields and keeping the overall page stationary.

in most of these images, it is fine to cover up the shooting guy image and move up all the fields so that the user does not need to scrool to reach the action button at the bottom.
this was fustrating as the button kept bouncing back under the url section . Needs fixed

These were only a few examples so all the screens should be check for similar issues
